

AMS: American Studies

Courses

AMS 6009 Introduction to American Studies
3 sh (may not be repeated for credit)

Explores dominant themes in the American experience, and it will introduce graduate students to the methodology, theories, and content regarding Early American Studies. The course draws on a variety of mediums including film, literature, paintings, and historical writings.